

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Which statement is true about focus group research?
 - (a) The participants should be selected at random.
 - (b) It is an example of a formal research tool for practitioners.
 - (c) The information can be generalized to describe a larger population.
 - (d) The findings generate qualitative data that can be used to develop surveys.
2. Functional structures help to create ...
 - (a) teamwork
 - (b) specialisation
 - (c) project work groups
 - (d) multi-skilled employees
3. _____ can be defined as the aspect of our psyche that determines the way in which we respond to our environment in a relatively stable way over time.
 - (a) Perception.
 - (b) Personality.
 - (c) Learning.
 - (d) Memory.
4. Tobacco advertising is now banned in virtually all marketing communication forms in many countries around the world. This can be explained as an influence of:
 - (a) Technological environment.
 - (b) Legal environment.
 - (c) Economic environment.
 - (d) Ecological environment.
5. What one of the following is not a characteristic of the job characteristics model?
 - (a) Task identity
 - (b) Autonomy
 - (c) Reward
 - (d) Feedback

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Community focus groups are typically included in the internal factors section of a firm's public relations situation analysis.
7. True or False: A social enterprise is focused on running a business that creates social benefits for the community.
8. True or False: A consultant firm primarily focuses on providing strategic advice rather than executing research projects for clients.
9. True or False: Perishability refers to the inability to separate the service from its provider, affecting the quality of service delivery.
10. True or False: Virtual teams allow for easier conflict resolution through direct communication methods like video calls.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the five-step model for circular evaluation proposed by Watson and Noble (2005), focusing specifically on the significance of pre-testing strategies and tactics within this framework.
12. Discuss the significance of conducting a situation analysis during the program definition stage of the planning process in business administration.

End of Paper