

Multiple Choice

1. Answer: C

Options: A) They have thriving, clean residential areas.; B) There are jobs for most rural-to-urban migrants.; C) They have three separate business districts.; D) They have a well-developed infrastructure.

Note: The correct answer is based on the observation that many African cities are structured with distinct business districts that typically cater to different economic activities, reflecting the diverse economic landscapes and urban planning strategies in these regions.

2. Answer: B

Options: A) urban hierarchy theory.; B) central place theory.; C) concentric zone model.; D) multiplier effect.

Note: Central place theory posits that settlements serve as central locations for the distribution of goods and services to the surrounding areas, thereby fulfilling the economic needs of the local population.

3. Answer: C

Options: A) swidden.; B) subsistence farming.; C) pastoralism.; D) hunting and gathering.

Note: Pastoralism is defined as a subsistence strategy that revolves around the domestication and herding of livestock for essential resources such as food, shelter, and clothing, distinguishing it from other agricultural practices.

4. Answer: B

Options: A) Chinese.; B) English.; C) French.; D) Arabic.

Note: English is considered the global lingua franca because it is the most widely spoken and commonly used language for international communication in business, science, and diplomacy.

5. Answer: D

Options: A) 10 miles east of Pittsburgh; B) Washington; C) 3 degrees south; D) 479 Elm Street, Muncie, Indiana

Note: The correct answer, 479 Elm Street, Muncie, Indiana, represents an absolute location because it provides a specific address that precisely identifies a point on the Earth's surface using coordinates.

True / False

6. Answer: False

Options: A) True; B) False

Note: Environmental determinism is false because it oversimplifies cultural development by ignoring the significant roles of human agency, social structures, and historical context in shaping cultures.

7. Answer: True

Options: A) True; B) False

Note: A universalizing religion, by definition, aims to spread its beliefs and practices to a wider audience and often employs missionaries to actively engage in conversion efforts.

8. Answer: False

Options: A) True; B) False

Note: Varanasi is primarily known as a spiritual and cultural center in India, while Mecca is a religious site for Muslims, and neither city functions as a major financial center in the global economy.

9. Answer: True

Options: A) True; B) False

Note: Hierarchical diffusion occurs when cultural traits or ideas spread from influential or higher-status individuals or groups to those of lower status, thereby reinforcing the notion that social hierarchy plays a crucial role in the dissemination of innovations.

10. Answer: True

Options: A) True; B) False

Note: Palestine is considered a stateless nation because it does not have universally recognized sovereignty or control over a defined territory, leading to its status as a non-sovereign entity in international relations.

Long Form Response

11. Answer: Ralph's decision to buy garden fertilizer locally instead of traveling 50 miles demonstrates the concept of intervening opportunities in spatial interaction. Intervening opportunities are favorable alternatives that arise closer to a person's location, making it more convenient and efficient to choose them over distant options. By opting for a nearby store, Ralph saves time, effort, and resources, highlighting how proximity can influence decision-making. This illustrates that when a more accessible option is available, individuals are likely to take advantage of it rather than pursuing farther alternatives. Thus, Ralph's choice reflects the importance of local resources in shaping spatial interactions.

Note: correct because it clearly illustrates how Ralph's choice reflects the concept of intervening opportunities by prioritizing convenience and efficiency in his decision-making process, as he opts for a nearby option over a more distant one.

12. Answer: Mongolia's geographical location significantly contributes to its trade disadvantages due to its landlocked status and vast distances from major markets. Surrounded by Russia to the north and China to the south, Mongolia relies heavily on these two countries for trade, which can limit its economic options and increase transportation costs. This isolation affects its economy by making it harder for Mongolia to diversify its trade partners and access global markets. Additionally, the limited infrastructure and harsh climate further hinder trade efficiency. As a result, Mongolia's economic growth can be stunted, impacting its international relations as it seeks to strengthen ties with neighboring countries for better trade opportunities.

Note: The answer correctly identifies that Mongolia's landlocked status and reliance on neighboring countries for trade create significant economic limitations and increased transportation costs, contributing to its trade disadvantages and affecting its ability to engage with a wider range of international markets.