

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Menstruation is triggered by...
 - (a) ...a sharp increase in estrogen levels
 - (b) ...a sharp increase in progesterone levels
 - (c) ...a sharp decrease in estrogen and progesterone levels
 - (d) ...a sharp increase in estrogen and progesterone levels
2. In men, specimens for gonococcal cultures are most commonly obtained from which of the following structures?
 - (a) Anus
 - (b) Bladder
 - (c) Urethra
 - (d) Testicle
3. Which of the following foramina pierce the sphenoid bone?
 - (a) The foramen ovale
 - (b) The foramen ovale and rotundum
 - (c) The foramen ovale, rotundum and spinosum
 - (d) The foramen ovale, rotundum and spinosum and foramen lacerum
4. Which of the following restrictions existed in at least one culture? No sex
 - (a) for a period of time following childbirth
 - (b) during menstruation
 - (c) between parents and children
 - (d) all of the above
5. Mutations which occur in body cells which do not go on to form gametes can be classified as:
 - (a) auxotrophic mutations
 - (b) somatic mutations
 - (c) morphological mutations
 - (d) oncogenes

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Older workers generally find a new job quicker due to their extensive experience in the workforce.
7. True or False: The best location to auscultate general heart sounds is the fifth left intercostal space in the midclavicular line.
8. True or False: Simon LeVay found differences in the cell structure of the hypothalamus between heterosexuals and homosexuals.
9. True or False: Younger workers always learn faster than older workers, regardless of the training method used.
10. True or False: The medial pterygoid muscle plays a crucial role in initiating the elevation of the mandible during mastication.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the role of FGFR 3 mutations in various genetic conditions, specifically analyzing why Waardenburg syndrome is not associated with these mutations.
12. Discuss the prevalence and implications of painful menstruation as a common menstrual issue, analyzing its causes, effects on individuals, and potential management strategies.

End of Paper