

Multiple Choice

1. Answer: A

Options: A) 1,000 B.P.; B) 8,000 B.P.; C) 7,000 B.P.; D) 3,000 B.P.; E) 6,000 B.P.

Note: The Yang-shao culture transitioned to the Lung-Shan culture around 1,000 B.P. as part of a broader historical development in prehistoric China characterized by advancements in agriculture and pottery, indicating a significant cultural shift during that period.

2. Answer: A

Options: A) Egypt; B) Western Europe; C) North America; D) South America; E) Eastern China

Note: Egypt is considered the world's first civilization due to its development of a complex society along the Nile River, characterized by advances in agriculture, writing, architecture, and centralized governance around 3100 BCE.

3. Answer: A

Options: A) Homo neanderthalensis.; B) Australopithecus afarensis.; C) Australopithecus africanus.; D) Homo naledi.; E) Homo habilis.

Note: Homo floresiensis is considered similar or related to Homo neanderthalensis due to their shared characteristics as hominins, their evolutionary proximity within the genus Homo, and evidence suggesting that both species adapted to specific environments, demonstrating convergent evolution in response to similar challenges.

4. Answer: D

Options: A) Madagascar; B) Australia; C) Hawaii; D) New Zealand; E) The Maldives

Note: New Zealand was the last major landmass to be settled by humans, with evidence suggesting that Polynesian navigators arrived there only around the 13 th century, making it significantly later than other regions inhabited by humans.

5. Answer: A

Options: A) Antarctica; B) Africa; C) Middle East; D) Asia; E) Australia

Note: The correct answer is Antarctica because the Venus figurines, which are pre-historic statuettes typically associated with fertility and female form, have not been discovered on this continent, thereby highlighting the absence of these artifacts in contrast to their presence in other regions, making the answer a reflection of the distribution of these items rather than their actual location.
