

Multiple Choice (10 marks)

1. Frank (1967) made the claim that 'underdeveloped' societies were:
 - (a) insufficiently involved in the international capitalist economy
 - (b) reluctant to surrender their traditional ways of life
 - (c) economically dependent on the wealthy countries that exploited them
 - (d) the 'metropolises' to which 'satellite' countries were attached
2. Pilcher (1999) identified soap operas as a 'feminine genre' of media because:
 - (a) most of the characters in soap operas are women
 - (b) they represent images of women as both domesticated and independent
 - (c) they alienate women and appeal to an audience of men
 - (d) female television producers are most likely to work in this area
3. Sreberny-Mohammadi (1996) argues that national cultures can resist American cultural domination of the media by:
 - (a) domesticating its content, including more 'home-produced' programmes
 - (b) controlling the distribution of imported products by banning satellite dishes
 - (c) creating 'reverse flows' of their own programmes back to imperial societies
 - (d) all of the above
4. The market model of state welfare is based on the principle of:
 - (a) individuals buying welfare privately, with some means-tested benefits
 - (b) regular benefit payments to men as earners of the 'family wage'
 - (c) a universalist system of welfare for all, regardless of income
 - (d) decommodifying social welfare through state provision
5. In modern societies, social status is typically measured by a person's:
 - (a) age
 - (b) income
 - (c) verbal fluency
 - (d) occupation

True / False (10 marks)

Answer True or False

6. True or False: Ethnographic research produces qualitative data by uncovering rich, detailed accounts from an insider's perspective.
7. True or False: The Nation of Islam gained significant support from British-born second generation immigrants from the Asian subcontinent.
8. True or False: Differential association theory suggests that one's environment has no impact on their likelihood of engaging in deviance.
9. True or False: The 'third age' of the life course primarily focuses on full-time employment and adult responsibilities.
10. True or False: Role-learning theory asserts that social roles are inherently fixed and do not change over time or through interaction.

Long Form Response (20 marks)

Answer each question with a clear and complete explanation.

11. Discuss the concept of social construction of reality as proposed by Berger and Luckmann, focusing on how individuals negotiate shared definitions and the implications of this process.
12. Discuss Warner's findings on the 'colour line' in Natchez, focusing on its implications for social stratification and the underlying beliefs of racial superiority.

End of Paper